

FACE OFF - FACES ONLY, NO SOUNDS!

THANKSGIVING EDITION

You bite into cranberry sauce and it's WAY more sour than expected.

You just smelled Grandma's warm pumpkin pie coming out of the oven.

Grandpa tells his 12th dad joke and you act like it's the funniest ever.

You just found out it's your turn to do ALL the dishes.

You bit into what you thought was a roll, but it was a marshmallow.

You're a turkey who just heard someone say the word "dinner."

You've waited an hour and the pie is finally on the table.

You just discovered someone ate the very last roll.

You taste a mystery casserole for the first time.

You're stuffed, but someone asks, "Who wants seconds?"

You just found a tiny pilgrim hat in your mashed potatoes.

You just spilled gravy all over your fanciest shirt.

You're trying not to laugh at a very loud sneeze from across the table.

You realize the parade is on and you're missing the best float.

You took a bite of something spicier than you expected.

You're a squirrel who just found the BIGGEST acorn ever.

You just won the wishbone pull!

You just lost the wishbone pull.

You open the oven and the turkey is still frozen solid.

You're a pumpkin who just got a face carved into you.

It's time to go around the table and say what you're thankful for.

You get a big, lipsticky kiss on the cheek from your great-aunt.

You see the veggie plate and you are NOT excited.

You just got the very last piece of pie!
